

“Intentionality”

As we celebrate the Feast of the Baptism of the Lord, we close out the Christmas Season. And as the Proclamation was sung at all the Masses on the Feast of the Epiphany last weekend, we look forward to the future celebrations of the Mysteries of our Faith in this coming Church Year.

It is with a heart full of gratitude that I thank God for having the opportunity to celebrate my first Advent/Christmas/Epiphany Seasons with you, the Church of St. Thomas More.

This community is truly an “intentional” community, that is, everyone who is here truly wants to be here, and desires to enter into the celebration of the Mysteries of our Faith.

That “intentionality” is so evident in all that we do as a community - from active participation “in the pews,” to those who serve in various liturgical ministries in the Eucharistic Celebrations, to those who are “in the background” helping to “prepare the space and the ritual” for our celebrations.

All this takes much effort and sacrifice on the part of many people. Schedules and agendas need to change or to be adjusted in order to make the Faith Community of St. Thomas More a priority. Please know that I am aware of that and know that, as your Pastor, you strengthen not only my ministry, but also, my Faith, as I see parishioners “being serious” about their Faith-life. Your intentionality “feeds” me, as a pastor, as I, hopefully, feed you through leading you in the celebration of the Eucharist and breaking open the Word of God with you through my homilies. Of course, in all these efforts, we know that it is the Lord who feeds us. We are His instruments.

Thank you to each and every one of you who helped to make the celebration of these liturgical seasons so prayerful and meaningful. Know that my heart is filled with gratitude. I will not single out any persons or groups. When that is done, so often, someone is missed. You know who you are what you have done. I know that the Lord is pleased!

As all of us make the necessary efforts and sacrifices in order to continue to live our community life here prayerfully and meaningfully, be mindful that we do so for the Lord, in order to give our God praise and thanksgiving.

At times, our efforts may be taken for granted or go on noticed. We may be hurt or discouraged at times. Yes, it is nice to be recognized and acknowledged, but that is not the reason that we do what we do. All of our individual efforts come together in a community effort to give our Loving Creator praise and thanksgiving. When we keep that focus, our hurt and discouragement will dissipate.

One of the many challenges that we face as a community is to preserve this sense of intentionality. As we continue to grow in numbers, we must resolve to make greater efforts in the area of hospitality, welcome, and personal invitation into the life of the community. I know that we can and will do that!

As we renew our Baptismal Promises this weekend, we, once again, “intention” ourselves to follow the Lord Jesus and to be active members of His Body as the Church of St. Thomas More.
