Underneath the Economic Crisis: A Crisis of Values

As we celebrate the Resurrection of our brother, Jesus, we are mindful that this event brings to us new hope, new life, and new beginnings.

This is not ethereal or "pie in the sky." This event is real and it brings forth divine energy that helps us to re-imagine and re-create our lives, and our world.

In our present economic realities, we need direction to help us in the way of re-imagining and re-creating the ways in which we live, and to decipher what are the important realities of life.

I share with you this article that appeared in the March 2010 edition of AARP Bulletin by Jim Wallis, which will, hopefully, help all of us to re-imagine and re-create our world from a Gospel perspective.
