Parish Mission to Combat Bad Influences: Faithful Families by Sound Mission Ministries Here at St. Thomas More, March 29 and 30

"Families are often under assault from negative cultural influences," said Pat Impiccini, "but there are ways to combat that influence and grow in grace and fidelity to the Lord."

He's an event coordinator for Sound Mission Ministries, a Tempe, Arizona-based organization that hosts parish missions...

"Families are challenged these days by everything our culture has to throw at them," Impiccini said. "You have to take time to get out of the general routine that you're in and just focus on Christ."

To help participants gain that focus, the mission will alternate between music and talks, small group discussions and silent time before the Blessed Sacrament.

"It calls people to focus and worship," said Chris Muglia, a local musician who founded Sound Mission Ministries about five years ago.

He had been working mainly in music and teen ministry, but saw a need for parish missions offered to regular families. Muglia connected with Bob Perron, a nationally based speaker, and began presenting these missions around the country.

"We've gotten wonderful feedback," Perron said. A recent mission in Santa Barbara, California drew more than 700 people.

Attracting a broad spectrum of families is one of Sound Mission Ministries' goals.

"We had been doing what we call parish missions for years and basically—when you looked at who was coming to the parish mission—it was the most committed and active families, the ones who were on every committee at Church," Perron said.

"There wasn't a broad appeal at many missions. Now, that's a generalization, but I think it's accurate," he said.

So, Sound Mission Ministries invites attendees to bring their neighboring families, aunts, uncles, and friends who have drifted away from regular practice of the faith.

In addition to music, adoration, and presentation by Muglia, Perron, singer-songwriter Simona Olson, as well as Mary Moore, who writes a regular column for the "The Catholic Sun," the mission will also feature group discussions for the men, women, and teens in attendance.

"I had some concern with how open the men would be in the breakout groups," Impiccini said. "But they really opened up and shared and talked about the things that challenge men today."

Those challenges—be they pornography, consumerism, or just spiritual malaise—have helped foster a vocations crisis that not many people talk about.

"We hear about a vocations crisis in the Church, and I believe that crisis is real, but I think a larger vocations crisis in our Church is that 50% of our marriages are ending in divorce," Perron said.

"If tomorrow 50% of the priesthood packed it up and quit doing what they were doing, it would be the biggest headline in this country," he said. "Faith is central to our home and not just what we do on Sunday."

Muglia wants families to focus more on God.

"Regardless of where you are in your relationship with Christ or the Church, Christ is calling us, welcoming us, and He wants to offer the fullness of life in all its forms," Muglia said.

"Come and see what may be there for you," he said. "I know that when people open themselves up, the Holy Spirit can move them."

2009 Annual Catholic Appeal Now Underway!

St. Thomas More's "Fair Share": $34,000

The ACA provides funding to programs vital for our diocesan mission:

...to teach through instruction in the faith: Youth and Young Adult Ministry; Catholic Schools; Adult Faith Formation; Evangelization and Catechesis

...to sanctify through priestly ministries: Vocations to the Priesthood; St. Francis Center in San Diego; Continuing Education for Priests

...to serve through Catholic Charities: Emergency, Food and Shelter; Pregnancy, Parenting and Adoption Services; Senior Citizen Programs; Family and Individual Counseling; Immigration and Refugee Services

Every registered household is receiving a letter with the ACA brochure and donation form. You are asked to make your pledge/gift by completing the pledge envelope. It can be returned in the mail, at the Parish Office, or in the Offertory Collection anytime during the Season of Lent. Please be as generous as you can in these difficult economic times.

Remember, no payment is needed now. You may pay your pledge over 10 months or all at one time with your Visa or MasterCard or Debit Card.

All money raised over our assessed amount of $34,000 will be returned to the Parish and will be directed toward the Operations Budget.

Your support is greatly appreciated!

—Rev. Michael Ratajczak, Pastor

Little Books

This series provides a six-minute meditation for each day of the Lenten season.

In this form of prayer, we take a Scripture passage and spend some quiet time reading it with God at our side. We listen for God to speak to us through the words, guiding us to thoughts and reflections that sometimes seem to come from nowhere. People are often surprised how easy it is to pray this way.

The following are available at the Information Table on weekends and the Church Office during the week. Your $2 donation helps cover our cost.

- Little Purple Book (for children, approximately 6-12)
- Little Black Book (for teens through adults)
- El Librito Negro (en español)

Little Rock Scripture Studies: The Letter to the Hebrews

The letter to the Hebrews is one of three letters called Pastorals. The other two are the books of Timothy (1 and 2) and Titus. This study helps us examine and enter into the priestly ministry of Jesus and consider our role in the Kingdom of God today.

Hebrews is known in the New Testament as a letter, but is to be understood fundamentally as a sermon or homily. The sermon represents the kind of discourse the Christian church was developing to meet the needs of its members. It is not a missionary sermon designed to convert non-Christians; it is directed to believers who are in need of exhortation, guidance, and comfort.

Interested? Please join us starting on Wednesday, February 25, 9:00am or Thursday, February 26, 7:00pm. For more information, contact Kathleen Bell at kathleenb@stmoside.org or 760-758-4100 x110.

Get On the Bus Update

An excellent meeting was held last week to further plan for this important event. It was attended by members of St. Francis, St. Thomas More, Pilgrim Church, and some agencies in North County. A lot of information was shared with the main focus of receiving the paperwork and directions on how to minister to the families by helping them fill out paperwork necessary to visit a prison. This will be the main focus for the next month.

Watch the bulletin in the next few weeks for an announcement of a meeting here at St. Thomas More for ongoing planning.

An envelope will be attached to our bulletin the weekend of April 4-5, along with a flier that will list the items needed for the children and young adults traveling to see their moms.

For further information or volunteering, contact Vanessa at 858-518-5991

In the meantime let us keep these families in our prayers.

Update on New Orleans Ministry

We now have 20 folks who are confirmed or very seriously interested in joining forces for good in New Orleans from March 21-28.

The group can be up to 25 people, so if the Holy Spirit is nagging your heart, act now! The absolute deadline for signing up is Monday, March 2.

Call Sr. Maureen at 760-758-4100 x131.

There will be a special blessing of these volunteers who will represent our Parish at the 5:00pm Mass on March 7. Please keep them all in your prayers.

Thank you for your generous monetary donations. In this way you are also participating in being the helping hands of Christ to the people of New Orleans. To date, we have received $2,945. An additional donation of $1,500 was made by a donating agency outside of the Parish to cover the price of the vans for our volunteers.

In a special way, let us remember the people of our Sister Parish, St. Peter Claver, as they continue their recovery process.

PRAYING AND CHANGING

Scripture Themes for March 2009

Thirty-five Lenten seasons ago, when the late Raymond E. Brown was unwrapping the gift of the Word of God for students at Union Theological Seminary and Woodstock College in New York, he took his turn in leading the weekly ecumenical prayer service. His message was at once profoundly simple and profoundly challenging.

Each time we pray, said Brown, we are to come away from that experience of union with God as a changed person. This change might be so minor as to be almost imperceptible or it may be so major as to cause others to take notice. But, each time we pray, there must be a change, otherwise our prayer has not been truly authentic or absolutely sincere. Brown readily admitted that the change that is the fruit of prayer may not be easily sustained; therefore, frequent prayerful encounters should punctuate our days and nights for all our lives so that, in our changing and changing, we become more and more like the One whom we meet in prayer.

Brown's words set an appropriate tone for the season of change we call Lent. A similar tone regarding change has been echoing in the political arena, where a desire for a new beginning was championed with the slogans "Change we can believe in!" "Yes, we can!" Granted, there are many things in our world in need of change. There are wars and famines, there is poverty, there is disease. There is unchecked greed, and there is abuse on so many levels. Suffering seems to go too often untended and unabated. Too frequently, these difficulties seem insurmountable and change seems impossible. Nevertheless, this season of change into which we now enter holds out the promise that, if we change what we can, that change can be contagious and its effects can have an exponential, albeit gradual, effect on the world in which we live.

In order for that gracious contagion to begin, each of us must begin to change the only thing we can—ourselves. And what better time is there to begin than now? That means this Lent rather than next and today rather than tomorrow. In order to be authentic, change must begin from within, namely with one's attitude. Viktor Frankl once called the ability to change or to choose one's attitude in any given circumstance "the last of human freedoms." Frankl's own circumstances were dire. A prisoner in a Nazi concentration camp, he had no power to change anything except the manner in which he would make his way through those circumstances. His example lends itself readily to Lenten believers, as does the wisdom of this month's sacred writers.

Each author will offer a voice in order to affirm the gift of salvation that is ours through the sacrifice of Jesus. That gift and the grace it has afforded each of us invites our gratitude as well as our cooperation, for it is only by appropriating the gift of salvation that change and growth can occur. On March 1, Jesus' own experience with evil invites us to change our attitude toward temptation. Temptation is not an unwinnable war we are left on our own to fight. Temptation is a struggle we share with Jesus. His strength is our strength; his victory can be ours as well, if we change and make his attitude our own.

On March 8, Abraham's attitude of total trust in God challenges our desire for self-sufficiency and control. Even when God asked the unthinkable and common sense dictated another course of action, Abraham believed. Can we similarly let go of ourselves and let God be our guide? Imagine the change that might be possible if we were to do so!

Midway through Lent, on March 15, the narratives on the Ten Commandments and the moneychangers in the temple will address our attitude as regards law and worship. Are these unwanted obligations that curtail our freedoms, or are they venues for encountering and expressing our love for God and one another?

With the fourth and fifth Sunday of Lent, we will draw nearer to Holy Week and to the reason for all our believing, all our serving, all our loving: Jesus Christ. In all he said and did while he walked among us, Jesus revealed the unimaginable intensity of God's love and the desire of God to be intimately united to each and to all of us in a relationship called covenant. Jesus' relationship with God inspired and guided his every word and work. This Lent, as in every Lent, Jesus invites our sharing in that relationship. He encourages us to choose his attitude as our own. In order for this to be so, we are to pray and, in our praying, to change little by little, day by day so as to grow into more accurate images of God. Isn't this change we can believe in? Yes, we can!

The Gift of the Red Bird

Sr. Maureen Brown

Wednesday, March 4
9:00am or 7:00pm

You are invited to enjoy, Gift of the Red Bird: The story of a SDivine Encounter by Paula D'Arcy, which is next in the series of our Parish Book Club on March 4 at 9:00am or 7:00pm.

It is a story full hope, a hope we can claim even when we are challenged by great hardships in life. Paula helps us get in touch with our own spiritual journey and the simple and profound ways that help us move from having an image of God to experiencing God's loving and personal presence in our lives.

There is a Guide for Reflection on page 143 of the book. You are invited to savor one question from each chapter for your own deepening and for our sharing together in our common journey of faith.

Ten Good Reasons To Go To Mass

Reason #7:

God has a special message for us

When we listen to the readings, the homily, and the prayers of the Mass, God speaks to us in a special way. We should come away from each Mass with at least one inspiration that will impact our lives in some way. We just have to pay attention and be open to what the Lord is trying to tell us.

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP Turbulent Times

God's promise of redemption for sinners is not predicated on things going well. God didn't promise riches in heaven assuming the stock market is rising.

There isn't a footnote at the bottom of the Ten Commandments with a disclaimer that these were only valid under certain conditions that God reserved the right to invoke.

God's covenant with us applies in both good and difficult times.

Whatever our hard work has accomplished, we must not forget that God alone is the source of our abilities and wealth: "But remember the Lord your God, for it is He who gives you power to get wealth, so that He may confirm His covenant sworn to your ancestors, as He is doing today." (Deuteronomy 8:18)

In these difficult times, it is important to remember our faith and continue to be thankful for the gifts God has given us. We should continue to give and share these blessings no matter how difficult the times are, as there are many more troubled than we may be.

Giving will help others to deal with adversities and will fill our hearts with gladness. "Whoever is kind to the poor lends to the Lord, and will be repaid in full." (Proverbs 19:17)

—Stewardship, Spring 2009

Yes, life can be difficult and seem unfair at times. "Why me?" is a common cry. Forgiveness, then, becomes a necessity.

This weekend's Gospel reminds us again of the importance God places on the gift of forgiveness. Before healing the paralytic's physical disability, Jesus forgives the man his sins. This act is absolutely key for us to absorb.

God forgives us, over and over, and yet it is so difficult for us to forgive one another. If we take a hard look into the mirror of our soul, we will clearly see that not one of us is perfect. That being said, why is it so hard for us to forgive?

In my case, it is pride and stubbornness.

How pathetic. God remains patient, loving and forgiving of me, despite my human limitations. God sees that I am trying, but sees that I do not always try hard enough.

A very dear friend of mine continually sets a terrific example and I try, more and more, to follow that example. It helps. Whenever something recurs that seems totally unjust, this friend faithfully says, "We need to pray about this and leave it in God's capable hands." This is faith in action and total trust in God.

My special intention this Lent is to make lasting progress with forgiveness. Doing so will free up more energy to do the work the Lord intends for me to do. God is, after all, much more qualified than me. Who am I to presume to take on His job? Judgment is up to God, and not me — or any of you. Our energy is better spent continuing the mission and ministry of Jesus in our world.

Forgiveness is not something we do for other people.
We do it for ourselves to get well and move on.

A WAY TO GIVE ~ A WAY TO RECEIVE

DESIGNATED BANK ACCOUNTS, WILLS, LIVING TRUSTS, STOCKS, LIFE INSURANCE, MUTUAL FUNDS, REAL ESTATE

There have been changes in the laws that are beneficial to both the recipient and the giver. A few examples of Planned Giving to STM are: Designated Beneficiary Accounts, Wills, Living Trusts, Stocks, Life Insurance, Mutual Funds, Real Estate, and Endowments.

This program is one way of helping the Parish raise the resources necessary to continue our campus build out and also help plan for our future needs (i.e., Tower of Faith participants). Planned Giving is a generic term that covers the many ways an individual can give to a charity while, in many cases, avoiding taxes.

For more information please contact:

About the Course...

Situated in beautiful Gird Valley, Fallbrook Golf Club offers a challenge to golfers of all skill levels. Our regulation-length, par-72 golf course is accented by mature trees, including native Live Oak, Sycamore and Eucalyptus. Fallbrook first opened in 1962. In May, 1999, we were proud to be the host of the inaugural tournament of the Futures Golf Tour, under the auspices of the LPGA. Over 30 years strong, Fallbrook is one of North San Diego County's best public golf course values.
