Toward a Global Spirituality

It has been reported that there is a species of fish that lives in the waters off the South American continent that has the ability, with its one set of eyes, to see in two directions – up and down- at the same time.

As it makes its way through the water, it, simultaneously, looks down into the murky depths and looks upward to the sunlight piercing the water's surface!

Looking in two opposite directions at the same time is, for the human, visually impossible; but, attitudinally, achievable. Indeed, looking in two directions at the same time is essentially necessary in developing a global spirituality.

As one begins to participate with others ecumenically and inter-religiously, as one begins to ask the other, "What do you believe?", "Why do you practice this ritual?", and "How does this doctrine have meaning for you?", the very same questions will be asked of you.

If you do not have the answers, you know that you must quickly search for them. Thus, the quest for knowledge about the other denomination or the other religion automatically becomes a quest for knowledge of one's own religion, one's own denomination. The more that one looks outward, the more one will need to look inward. Living ecumenically and inter-religiously, one imitates that fish and looks in two different directions at the same time.

A global spirituality has its beginnings in the person's willingness to simply gain knowledge and information about others and about oneself. It is about looking for those values that we have in common as religious people. It is looking for the common meanings that lie beyond the words, rituals, and symbols found in our different religions.

One must be willing to live with seeming contradiction, confusion, and doubt. One must be willing to let go of quick answers, and comfortable categories. One must not see "the other" as an object of conversion, (bringing the other to my way of thinking or my structured belief system), but seeing the other as a fellow human being trekking up the same mountain to God, but traversing a different path.

As we begin to reverence one another, as we speak each other's words, and as we participate in each other's rituals, we will begin to see and understand our own religion and denomination in fresh and revitalized ways.

Developing a spirituality that is global will allow individuals to live within their own creeds and ritual practices, while respecting those of the other. The spirituality becomes the connector, the link, and the space "in-between" where we find God in a newer and more intimate way. That "in-between" space is "The Beyond In Our Midst" where God is found. That "in-between" space may, indeed, even be God!

As we gather together in so many ways with family and friends, we are mindful that we are rich in our diversity. Even among our own immediate families, we are becoming ever more diverse – different ethnic, racial, religious backgrounds – as the family grows and marries.

Take advantage of all these differences. See them as opportunities to grow spiritually. Take time to get to know the other as a fellow human being, not an object of conversion. Let discussion of these various differences be bridges to bring us closer together. Whatever your religious backgrounds and beliefs, find God in the "in-between" places and spaces!

Help Feed the Hungry

*Pope Francis reminds us:
"You pray for the hungry.
Then you feed them.
That's how prayer works."*

We encourage every STM family to donate one nonperishable food item each weekend when they come to Mass.

Together we can help feed the hungry in our local community.

Bishops' Letter on Marriage—"A Natural and Spiritual Blessing: "While marriage is a special blessing for Christians because of the grace of Christ, marriage is also a natural blessing and gift for everyone in all times and cultures. It is a source of blessing to the couple, to their families, and to society and includes the wondrous gift of co-creating human life."

Marriage Moments—Is it any wonder that couples are finding it more difficult to make and keep marriage vows when promiscuity is portrayed as normative on TV, movies, websites, and annoying emails. This week, be mindful of what the media is feeding your psyche.

Parenting Pointers—"One's life does not consist of possessions." (Luke 12:15) How many "toys" does your family have? WE ARE NOT ALONE

scripture themes for August

by Patricia Datchuck Sánchez
and Rafael
Sánchez Alonso,
from Celebration
August 2016, with permission.

Even though the end of the current liturgical year is still a few months away, we will detect hints of urgency in the sacred texts for August. We will hear whispers of judgment, punishment, and reward, as well as warnings that we must be prepared to meet the Lord whenever and however he appears. A repeated emphasis on faith will challenge us to take stock of our fidelity and perseverance (Aug. 7), and the importance of discipline will be affirmed (Aug. 21). Discipline is, of course, derived from the word “disciple,” and refers here to our willingness to let Jesus teach and form us in the ways of truth, justice, mercy, and humility. Humble people know where they stand; they do not put on airs or seek out honor. They are, in a word, exceedingly truthful or down to (the) earth (humus) from which they came and to which they shall return. From this humble posture, Jesus’ disciples are to reach out to the poor, the crippled, the blind, and the disenfranchised. The needs of God’s least ones become their daily agenda (Aug. 28).

As we move together through August, in prayer and in service, Jesus will make mention of the sufferings entailed in being faithful. Jeremiah was thrown into a cistern for speaking the truth to those who didn’t want to listen (Aug. 14). But he survived, as did his faithful ancestors Abraham, Sarah, Isaac, and so many others through the centuries. These survived not by power or might but by their faith, hope (Aug. 7), and trusting reliance on God.

We shall also be reminded this month that ours is not a provisional or territorial God concerned only with certain elements of humanity. On the contrary, God’s concerns are universal and all-inclusive. Through Trito-Isaiah (Aug. 21), God will affirm, “I know their works and their thoughts, and I come to gather nations of every language; they shall come and see my glory.... They shall proclaim my glory among the nations.”

With such lofty goals to attain, and with keen awareness of how far-off and even impossible these goals may seem to be, we might become bewildered. When we examine the authenticity of our faith and our responsiveness to grace; and when we measure our weaknesses against the task at hand, we might become discouraged. However, the sacred texts are never without hope. As in every month, we are buoyed up by the encouragement they offer.

On Aug. 28, the unnamed author of the Letter to the Hebrews will assure us that God, whom we love and worship, does not speak a message so frightful that we are forced to beg for silence. There is no blazing fire or gloomy darkness where our God lives. No, our God is surrounded by countless angels in festal gathering. Yes, our God is judge of all, but our God’s name is Mercy and our God’s ways are loving, forgiving, and compassionate. All the goodness of our God has been revealed to us in Jesus, who, through his passion, death, and resurrection, has mediated a new covenantal relationship with humankind. Because of that relationship we live courageously, joyfully, and serenely, full of hope and peace.

Early in the month (Aug. 14), the author of Hebrews offers even further encouragement. Not only are we strengthened and made secure by our relationship with God but we are also in communion with all those who have gone before us in faith. As the ancient author so eloquently wrote, “we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses...let us rid ourselves of every burden and sin... and persevere in running the race... keeping our eyes fixed on Jesus.” Imagine yourself in a great amphitheater. Crowding the stands are those whose races have come to a happy end. Victors in Christ, they are cheering us on. There are no thumbs turned downward in this arena. As we make laps, our supporters are urging each of us to persevere. Jesus is there too, seated at the right of the throne of God, who is showing a big thumbs-up. Let us not grow weary or lose heart. We tread in the footprints of winners, not losers.

Our running mates also extend help. If we pull together as one, and encourage one another along the way, we become much-needed enablers for one another. With so much support coming our way—from God, from the great cloud of witnesses, and from our fellow travelers—surely we can persevere in the “race” that will lead us home to God.

OUR LEGACY ~ WAY TO GIVE ~ A WAY TO RECEIVE

DESIGNATED BANK ACCOUNTS, WILLS, LIVING TRUSTS, STOCKS, LIFE INSURANCE, MUTUAL FUNDS, REAL ESTATE, ENDOWMENTS

Planned Giving is a generic term that covers the many ways an individual can give to a charity while, in many cases avoiding taxes. A few examples of Planned Giving are: Wills, Living Trusts, Designated Beneficiary Accounts, Stocks, Life Insurance, Mutual Funds, Endowments, and Real Estate.

This program is one way of helping the Parish raise the resources necessary to continue our campus build out and also help plan for our future needs (i.e., Tower of Faith participants). Gifts of this nature are beneficial and much appreciated by St. Thomas More.

For more information please contact:

Chris Smith at 758-4100 x120 or chriss@stmoside.org.

Christian Stewardship and an Attitude of Gratitude

This column, along with a follow up next week, was so well received in July 2015, that I felt compelled to run it again now.

Many of you know Sally Fay, our organist, member of our adult choir, cappella choir and Tower Bells. Sally (the oldest of nine siblings) and her husband, Chuck, have two grown children. Sally is also an ARC CPR instructor and a Jazzercise instructor.

Early in 2014, Sally was diagnosed with breast cancer. This news was received with shock and mixed emotions. However, Sally trusted in her deep faith and moved forward on this new journey with strength and as much humor as she could muster. She opted for safety in the future, which meant major surgery and follow-up chemo and radiation. Blessedly, Sally is now safely past the medical milestones and her hair has all grown back.

Below are some of the inspirational pieces that helped Sally on her journey, and she shared with our Jazzercise class:

- † We don't know how strong we are until being strong is the only choice we have.
- † Enjoy the little things in life, because one day you will look back, and realize they were the big things.
- † Each day is a new day to change your life.
- † I am learning to trust the journey, even at times when I do not understand it.
- † How to be happy ~ Give back.
- † Hope is the only thing stronger than fear.
- † Once the storm is over, you won't remember how you made it through. You won't be the same person who walked in. That's what this storm's all about.—Haruki Murakami
- † Wake up thankful.
- † Just breathe.
- † Repeat after me: I Can Do This.
- † You gain strength, courage and confidence by every experience in which you really stop to look fear in the face. With the new day comes new strengths and new thoughts.—Eleanor Roosevelt
- † On very tough days when I felt that I couldn't possibly endure, I reminded myself that my track record for getting through bad days was 100% so far.
- † There is little difference in people, but that little difference makes a big difference. The little difference is attitude. The big difference is whether it is positive or negative.—W. Clement Stone
- † It is not the body's posture, but the heart's attitude that counts when we pray.—Billy Graham

Thanks to Sally for letting me share . . . to be continued next week along with some biblical references ~ —Chris

NEWS RELEASE

ROMAN CATHOLIC DIOCESE OF SAN DIEGO

Bishop's Statement on Shooting of San Diego Police Officers

SAN DIEGO, July 29, 2016 – The Most Rev. Robert McElroy, head of the Roman Catholic Diocese of San Diego, today issued the following statement concerning the shooting of two police officers in San Diego on Thursday night, one fatally.

"The Catholic community of San Diego and Imperial Counties weeps with the family of San Diego Police Officer Jonathan DeGuzman, who was killed last night, and prays for the swift recovery of his partner, Officer Wade Irwin. We recognize the great personal risk the men and women in uniform take as they work tirelessly to enforce our laws. As we await to learn the circumstances of this heart-breaking crime, it's up to each one of us to work to prevent violence and to promote justice and peace in our communities, our cities and our nation."

Is it too late to get my picture in my parish photo directory?

Photography at the parish ended but then we started getting many requests for people that still wanted to be a part of our photo directory. We all realize the more people included in the book, the more valuable this book will be.

There are 3 options to still have your picture included:

1. Lifetouch will be returning to our parish hall one last time Sunday August 21st.

To schedule an appointment:

- Go to our church website, the link is on the home page
- Call 760.576.8393 or
- Sign up after Masses August 6 & 7 and 13 & 14

2. Go to another church for your portrait; it will be put in our book. Instructions and locations are on the reverse side of this paper.

3. Submit your own portrait, email to chriss@stmoside.org

There is a $10 charge to cover the cost of the book. Put cash or a check made to St. Thomas More in an envelope with your name on it. Below your name write "for submitted picture." Turn the envelope to the parish office, Attn: STM Pictorial Directory. This must be received before September 1st.
